Can I use a Publishing Deal?
Yes, if the following conditions apply:

- The paper has a University of Cambridge corresponding author

- Your paper type is covered by a deal

- Your paper was submitted (or accepted - deal depending) during the term of a deal

- Your journal is covered by a deal

- Any applicable funding cap has not been exceeded

The deals cover research staff and students at the University of Cambridge (including colleges), except for Cambridge University Press and Assessment, who are not covered. Alumni, visitors, honorary staff and emeritus staff are not covered other than in exceptional circumstances.

Most of the deals cover only research or review papers. The Open Access website provides details of each deal.

Conditions apply. See our website for details.

The deals do not always cover a publisher’s entire portfolio of journals. Please consult our journal checker.

Certain deals (such as Wiley and Wolters Kluwer) have annual funding caps. Papers that are accepted after the cap has been exceeded are not covered by the deal. The Open Access Team may be able to help with the APC in certain circumstances.
